

of South Carolina, and myself. I suppose you remember the order in which the names generally were read, viz; Russell, Metcalf, McClure and Dick.

I hope that I may have the pleasure of seeing you sometime in the near future.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Henry S. Carhart,
President, American Electrochemical Society,
University of Michigan,
Ann Harbor, Michigan.

Department of Commerce and Labor
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
Washington

July 12, 1904.

My dear Mr. Carhart:

I am just in receipt of your communication of the 9th instant, congratulating me upon my appointment to the Secretaryship of Commerce and Labor. I remember you perfectly well. I attended Russell's Military School during the years of '71 and '72, and entered the class of '76 at Yale. Professor Manatt, now of Brown University, was an instructor at Russell's during that time. In my class - the class in Latin - there were Philip J. Russell, W. O. McClure, Mr. Dick,

July 12, 1904.

My dear Mr. Gifford:

I am just in receipt of your communication of the 9th instant, congratulating me upon my appointment to the Secretaryship of Commerce and Labor. I remember you perfectly well. I attended Russell's Military School during the years of 'VI and '73, and entered the class of '78 at Yale. Professor Menzies, now of Brown University, was an instructor at Russell's during that time. In my class - the class in Latin - there were Philip J. Russell, W. O. McGinnis, Mr. Dick, of South Carolina, and myself. I suppose you remember the order in which the names generally were read, viz: Russell, Metcalf, McGinnis and Dick.

I hope that I may have the pleasure of seeing you sometime in the near future.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Henry S. Gifford,
President, American Electrochemical Society,
University of Michigan,
Ann Arbor, Michigan.